

CHARGE Anywhere® Releases White Label Version of its PCI PA DSS Compliant Payment Application for Windows®

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, NJ (September 29, 2009) – CHARGE Anywhere®, a leading provider of PCI compliant electronic payment software and services, has released version 2.0.0 of its payment application for Windows®. The new enhancements enable our resellers to private label our PCI validated payment application. Reseller branding combined with our new self-installer functionality, which easily guides merchants through the initial set-up of the application, creates a winning combination for developers and merchants looking for end-to-end encrypted payment solutions for Windows.

CHARGE Anywhere has developed a self installer wizard that will easily guide merchants through the customization options available such as adding peripheral devices that enable hosted signature capture service, magnetic card readers, PIN entry devices and printers. The updated application also comes equipped with an expanded help section which merchants can use to find the answers to their questions in a matter of seconds.

CHARGE Anywhere specializes in PCI compliant point of sale solutions that encompass software, hardware, security services and support for developers and merchants. With API support, secure PA DSS certified software applications and its top-of-the-line PCI DSS Level 1 secure payment gateway, CHARGE Anywhere provides end-to-end secure solutions that enable developers and merchants to securely process credit and debit cards anywhere, any time.

“With the release of our updated Payment Application for Windows, CHARGE Anywhere remains committed to providing developers and resellers the best-in-class secure, payment solutions,” said Paul Sabella, President and CEO of CHARGE Anywhere.
