Elavon certifies ComsGate EMV and QuickSale® POS, QuickSale mPOS and QuickSale PC Software for contact and contactless chip card payments.

April 16, 2018 South Plainfield, NJ – Charge Anywhere, LLC, a leading payment gateway and payment application provider has completed an L3 EMV card payment processor certification of its ComsGate Payment Gateway and its QuickSale software with Elavon, a wholly owned subsidiary of U.S. Bancorp (NYSE: USB).

This new certification of Charge Anywhere's ComsGate EMV v2.6 payment gateway and QuickSale suite of software applications supports point-to-point encryption (P2PE), contact and contactless credit card payments, PIN debit and EBT cards with low cost Bluetooth chip and PIN card readers.

"Charge Anywhere is excited to make the QuickSale solutions available to Elavon customers throughout the United States." commented Paul Sabella, CEO of Charge Anywhere. "This partnership and certification will provide Elavon customers with reliable, cost-effective QuickSale EMV solutions that can be used with Android and Apple phone and tablets and on Windows computers or with QuickBooks® Financial edition." "Set up and deployment have never been easier with our platform managing the software licensing, payment gateway set up and remote encryption key injections. Acquirers, Banks, ISOs and processors are provided a suite of tools to efficiently and easily deploy secure EMV payment solutions and to manage their POS portfolio."
